SACRAMENTO — Gov. Reagan Wednesday signed into law a measure creating an Air Resources Board, along with 94 other bills.

The Mulford-Carrell Act, by Assemblyman Don Mulford (R-Oakland) and Sen. Tom Carrell (D-San Fernando), will place all state smog agencies under the new Air Resources Board and will give the state control over both stationary sources of pollution as well as moving sources such as motor vehicles.

Another measure, by Sen. Howard Way (R-Exeter), authorizes the governor to propose to the Little Hoover Commission and the Legislature a reorganization of the executive agencies of the state government.

Three other measures will establish a 10-member board of governors for the state's junior colleges, require junior college districts to develop a 10-year master plan for construction and place a $65 million junior college bond issue on the June, 1968, ballot.

Loan Bonds

A $200 million bond issue also will be submitted for veterans' purchases of farms and homes.

A law proposed by Assemblyman John L. E. Collier (R-South Pasadena) will require the State Board of Education to display textbooks in 50 libraries for 60 days before adoption. History books must be displayed in 200 libraries. This measure is a result of the uproar over the controversial eighth-grade text, "Land of the Free."

Another measure creates a State Race Track Leasing Commission to lease the Del Mar Race Track on behalf of the 22nd District Agricultural Assn. The commission will be composed of the state agriculture, finance and general services directors and three 22nd District board members.
